Yesterday's game between the Washington and Detroit clubs was the last of the series, and after a magnificent struggle, victory perched on the banners of the local club, the score being 8 to 7. The contest was of the sort dear to the hearts of the enthusiastic base ball patrons, the lead alternating between the teams, and was finally won in the last inning by the home club.

The finish was highly sensational and the victory came so suddenly as to almost astound the spectators, and for a time kept them from cheering. With two runs necessary to win, the Senators came in for their last turn at the bat. Miller had gotten his second wind, apparently, and was twirling gilt-edged ball. But his cleverness left him in a "jiffy." Clingman, the first man up, being given a free pass to first, and Farrell also walked a few minutes later. This unexpected development brought every spectator to his feet and the yelling was something tremendous.

Bill Clarke was the next man up and he made two attempts to advance the men on bases with a sacrifice. With two strikes registered against him Clarke decided to hit the ball out, and the decision was a good one. The next ball pitched proved to be to Bill's liking and he hit it into right field, close to the foul line. It was too far in for Holmes in right and too far out for either McAllister or Gleason, and was a judicious base hit, but the twist on the ball made it bound high, and when it came down the second time it landed inside the right field bleachers.

Clarke chased the two men on bases around the diamond until Farrell had crossed the home plate and then the game was over. William getting credit for a triple, when he had really made a home run.

As the ball bounded into the bleacher seats and the spectators realized that the game had been pulled out of the fire, a great rush was made for the diamond and the clever Baltimore was given an ovation. Rightfielder Holmes did not try to get the ball after he saw where it was going, as he realized that it would be useless to get into difficulty with the crowd which surrounded the ball. One of the "fans" to make the play sure, grabbed the ball, while Holmes hesitated and threw it under the bleacher seats. The ball would have been impossible to get the ball inside the required time, even had the Detroiters gone after it. Dale Gear beat the ball to Washington, but his delivery was easy of solution, and Lee relieved him after the third inning. Lee was in fine shape and but two runs could be bunched on him in the seventh inning. Miller pitched his second game of the series, and after the first four innings his speed and control were evident. He pitched a fine game, but he was out of his powers after the fifth and did well until the last, when he met his Waterloo.

Detroit First to Score.
Detroit took the first turn at the bat and chalked up three runs. After Casey had died out to center, Barrett hit one to the club house, good for three bases and a moment later crossed the plate on Gleason's single over second. Holmes then singled to center, sending Gleason to second. McAllister hit to Gear, and a quick throw to third retired Gleason. Nance followed with a drive to the left-field fence, Holmes and McAllister coming home. After Shaw had walked, Yeager flew out to Foster, and the inning was over.

The Wolverines rested up for an inning and it was thought Gear had cleared his spot, but the next ball he hit into the field and two runs were scored. Gleason started off with a single to center and went to third as Coughlin made a mess of Holmes' drive. McAllister then hit to center, and Clarke at first, while Bill was retiring the runner Gleason scored. Holmes made a dashing start of third and crossed the plate on Nance's single into left. The next two batters went out without any further trouble.

In the fourth Washington started in to do business, as the Senators hit home. Dungan hit the goose egg fare. After Dungan had been retired, Foster singled to center and Grady followed with a safe one to left. It was a slow one, and Mike had been on the ball out when Casey cut loose for the initial bag. The throw was a bad one and Foster kept on to third. Grady then tried for a steal of second and on Shaw's throw to that bag neither Yeager nor Gleason covered and as a result the ball went into center field and Foster crossed the plate with Washington's first run. Grady had gone to third on the misunderstanding, and by a close play crossed the plate ahead of Barrett. The right-field fence and Lee retired on a long fly. Lee made the third hand out.

Senators' Batting Matinee.
A batting matinee came off in the fifth and the Senators went to the front as the result of four runs being scored. Coughlin singled into left and kept on to second as Nance let the ball to the right field fence. Clarke sent a hard one into left, good for one base, but on Nance's error, both Clingman and Farrell crossed the plate. Dungan tripled to the right-field fence and Clarke crossed the plate. Foster and Grady fanned and Quinn died out, leaving Dungan on third.

With the lead of one run everything looked serene for the Senators, but the spectators were thrown into confusion and gloom in the seventh by the visitors. Gleason was given a free pass to first and Holmes flew out to Foster. McAllister then hit a grounder toward second, and as the ball hit Gleason the latter was declared out. With McAllister resting on first and out, Mr. Nance deliberately hit a long fly over the left-field fence and the Wolverines were once more in the lead.

But the grand finale came in the ninth, as already told, and everybody left the park in great good humor, the Detroit players, of course, excepted.

NELSON'S GREAT SPEED.

He Defeated Pierce on the Local Bowl Track.

In the presence of the largest number of spectators yet gathered at the new Coliseum bicycle track, Johnny Nelson, the little Swede, last night defeated Burns Pierce of Canada in a twenty-mile motor-paced contest and lowered the world's competition record for a mile on a six-lap track.

A. C. Moran, the speedy local amateur, lowered the track record for a half mile upaced in one minute flat. The previous record was held by W. Wolfshelm of Baltimore of 1:07.5. Nelson's official time for the twenty miles was 31:30.4-5. His time for the record mile was 1:23.4-5. The first event on the program was the one-mile novice, which was won by G. A. Myers of the Arlington Wheelmen. There were five riders in the contest, which was run off in one heat. The riders loafed around the track until the bell rang and then the riders bunched and in the final sprint down the home stretch Myers took the lead with L. Denham a close second. The time was 2:28.2-5.

The first heat of the mile handicap followed and was covered in fast time. In this event it was necessary to have two heats owing to the large number of entries. The race was one of the most exciting of the season.

Johnny Nelson.

Johnny Nelson, the little Swede, was the fastest rider in the contest and was the only one to finish the race in under two minutes. He was the only one to finish the race in under two minutes.

In the second heat the time was not so fast. It was captured by E. L. Wilson, with J. O. Bardoff in second place. It was a neck-and-neck race between both riders. The time was 2:16.4-5. In the final heat the five riders took their positions with Wilson and Miller on scratch and Gill at the 90-yard post. Wilson dropped out when the bunch passed him near the end of the mile, and in the final run home Gill crossed the tape first, hard pushed by Cogswell, in one of the prettiest races of the season. Miller finished third. Time, 2:15.7-5.

Al. Moran then appeared and rode a half mile exhibition, lowering the track record. Moran was riding in fine form and was heartily cheered by his large circle of admirers when he appeared on the track. Moran is entered for the half-mile open next Tuesday night, and will undoubtedly capture that event, judging from his present riding form.

The Nelson-Pierce Race.

The big motor tandems were then hauled out upon the track, and the Nelson-Pierce race announced. The machines spun around the big wooden bowl for several miles for the event. Nelson and Pierce went around a couple of laps and then lined up at the tape. Pierce won the toss-up and took the pole.

The race was undoubtedly the prettiest ever witnessed on the local track, and when Nelson's machine crossed the line by Pierce, the crowds went wild with enthusiasm. Nelson gained his first lap on Pierce at the end of the second mile. He continued his speedy riding and gained another lap in the fifth mile. He lapped Pierce again in the fifteenth and nineteenth miles, and when the race was finally over he had defeated the Canadian champion by over five laps. It was in the twentieth mile that Nelson broke the world's record, which clearly demonstrated his riding qualities and the condition he was in at the end of the race. Almost in every instance when he lapped Pierce, the passing took place on the steep turns, making the sight a spectacular one.

In the last mile of the race Nelson yelled to his pacing crew to make the pace hotter, and with a tremendous spurt he went after the mile record and lowered it. Nelson was paced by John Pickard and George Pierce, who pulled their man in to victory in one of the best match races ever pulled off in this city. Pierce received his share of applause when he appeared on the track last night, and was looked upon by many to be a winner. His defeat in Baltimore the night previous caused him to go into the race with the intention of pushing his opponent at every chance. His riding last night, while good at all times was somewhat of a disappointment after his victory over Edouard Taylore, the French champion, dropped out when Messiner and Mitchell passed them in a sprint. Messiner and Mitchell were in turn overhauled, leaving the other two teams to fight it out. Rhine and Ward, after being chased by Miller and Long for several laps, were caught, giving the latter team the race. Time, 6:58.

The next meet will be held Tuesday, June 25, at 8 p.m. It will be an all-amateur event.
